

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Method and apparatus for prevention of overspray during coating of a pallet used in a screen printing operation. After being coated with an adhesive, the pallet is capable of removably retaining textile fabrics and the like thereon. The apparatus comprises a spray guard, preferably rectangular in shape, which captures overspray on its interior walls.